Group Name / Number: Group 1: Potts Lifters

Student Name	Preferred Contact Method (e.g., Text, Discord, Email)	Peak Productivity Hours (e.g., 6 AM Early Bird, 10 PM Night Owl)	Strength/Skill I bring to this research project
1. Athan Chee	Email	2pm – 10pm	I have a strong foundation in programming and Machine Learning. I will be comfortable implementing known solutions and presenting
2. Eeshan Khandelwal	Email	2pm – 10pm	I have a strong mathematical foundation in machine learning, computational mathematics, calculus.
3. Nate Fan	Email	2pm – 10pm	I am strong in applied mathematics and I am comfortable approaching others, managing times and organizing.

Team Roles and Responsibilities

While everyone is responsible for the final research product, splitting up core administrative duties keeps the project moving smoothly over the next 4 weeks.

Discuss and assign who will primary take on these rotating or fixed roles:

- The Project Manager (The Organizer): Keeps track of deadlines, ensures everyone is on task, and manages the master Google Doc/slides.
- The Lead Researcher / Data Archivist: Ensures sources are credible, keeps track of citations/bibliography, and organizes shared files.
- The Communications Chief / Editor: Keeps track of group meeting notes and communications with instructors, checks for voice consistency in the final writing.

Our Role Assignments:

- Student 1: Eeshan will primarily act as the Project Manager.
- Student 2: Athan will primarily act as the The Lead Researcher.
- Student 3: Nate will primarily act as the The Communications Chief.

Communication and Meeting Schedule

Four weeks goes by fast, it is imperative that research groups meet daily for progress to be made. Remember to manage your time around required program events.

Where/when will we meet outside of class time? (e.g., Zoom every afternoon at 4 PM, lunch after lecture every day).

- Our Answer: We will meet after Lecture and after Labs in the library to discuss the project. We are also meet for lunch and dinner.

What is our expected response time for group messages? (e.g., Within 2 hours during the day, no later than 9 PM).

- Our Answer: Within 1 hour if the message is sent before 11pm. The next day if the message is sent after 11pm.

Where will our shared research files live? (e.g., Shared Google Drive folder).

- Our Answer: Our planning files will be on Google Drive and coding will be on GitHub.

Our Custom Group Policies

Workload & Quality Policy: (How will we ensure work is shared equally? What do we do if someone's work isn't up to par?)

- Our Policy: You must come to group meetings and contribute 4 hours a day to the project. You should also contribute to the GitHub project with at least 2 commits a week.

The "Life Happens" Policy: (What happens if someone gets sick or has a family emergency? How much notice must they give the group?)

- Our Policy: They are exempted from all responsibilities and should inform us immediately after it happens.

Research Integrity Policy: (How will we ensure all data is accurate, properly cited, and free of plagiarism/unauthorized AI use?)

- Our Policy: Every paper, video, AI use and other sources must be quickly documented with a short explanation of what it was used for. This source must be cited further if it is important to the final paper.

Conflict Resolution Protocol

Even the best teams disagree. If a teammate is missing deadlines or not communicating, we agree to follow these steps:

Step 1: Talk directly to the teammate to see what is going on and offer support.

Step 2: Re-visit this contract as a group and adjust roles or deadlines if needed.

Step 3: If the issue isn't resolved within 24 hours, we will schedule a meeting with the Instructor/Teacher to mediate.

Signatures and Commitment

By signing below, you agree to abide by the rules your team has created for this 4-week research experience. You pledge to show up, do your best work, and support your peers.
